

JOB SEARCH ADVICE: 3 QUICK TIPS

Common Challenge #1: Don't Know Where To Look

Solution: Narrow Your Search

General job search sites like Indeed, Monster, and ZipRecruiter cover a lot of opportunities, but if you have special skills or background, a focused website may be more helpful. Try one of these sites:

Website Name	Target Population	Website
Idealist	Nonprofit Job Seekers	idealist.org
Poached Jobs	Food Service Job Seekers	poachedjobs.com
Remote.Co	Remote Customer Service/Sales Jobs	https://remote.co
Honest Jobs	Job Seekers with Justice Involvement	honestjobs.com
Jobs Ability	Job Seekers with Disabilities	jobsability.com

Common Challenge #2: Forgetting Where You've Applied

Solution: Organize Your Notes

Track your applications, so you remember which job is which when the interview calls!

A simple chart or spreadsheet is all you need.

Common Challenge #3: Not Negotiating Salary

Solution: Research the Competition

Glassdoor.com lists salaries and reviews from former employees. Check this company against similar ones.

@salarytransparentstreet (Instagram / Tiktok) shares short video interviews about different industries and their salaries.

Did You Know? Effective November 2022, all employers in New York City are required to post a salary range for each position.
